The names of B. P. Moseley and Hardee Bryan, candidates for city tax collector, will both be printed on the city election tickets to be voted next Tuesday. Both are good democrats, well qualified to fill the position. Take your choice.

Capt. W. J. Hillman was in Savannah the first of the week, a witness in the case of the United States vs. the alleged naval stores trust. Captain was a witness for the government. The charges against the trust are for making false statements, monopoly and the demoralization of the industry.

D. G. Bardin has accepted a position with a wholesale grocery house of Jacksonville, and will start out on the road Monday on his first trip. He will travel this section of Florida. Mr. Bardin understands the grocery business, is an excellent business gentleman, and we bespeak for him a good share of the business in his line.

The election next Tuesday is going to bring out a larger vote than is usually cast in the city election. The fact that for the office tax collector there are two candidates—Hardee Bryan and B. P. Moseley—both democrats, working hard for the position, will bring out something like a full vote. In the city primary election there were four candidates for tax collector, and in that election Mr. Moseley and Mr. Bryan received the largest number of votes, but neither received a majority, and under the general rule they would have to run it off in a second primary, but the city executive committee very wisely decided to do away with the second primary and have both names printed on the city election ticket and let the election to be held next Tuesday decide the matter.

The Live Oak bankers and the citizens of Live Oak generally did their very best to show the bankers, who were here last Friday and Saturday attending the association a royal good time, and the Democrat believes they succeeded. There was a good attendance, the sessions of the association were interesting and full of life, there was not an unkind word or an unpleasant remark during the whole proceedings; "everything was lovely and the goose hung high," and we hope some of these days they will honor us with another visit.

Two very large congregations greeted Dr. R. V. Atkisson at the Methodist church on Sunday, both at the morning and evening services. No regular sermon was preached at the morning hour, the time being given over to selections on the beautiful new pipe organ which was used for the first time Sunday. The Methodist congregation is very fortunate in having secured such a splendid instrument for their church. Dr. Atkisson called for contributions on the pipe organ and a hearty response was the result. An able sermon was enjoyed at the evening service. The music at both hours was greatly appreciated by the congregations. Mrs. Atkisson who presided at the organ showed that she is quite a master in the art of pipe organ music as well as other kinds of music. She gave several renditions which brought out all of the tones of the different parts of the instrument. In future Mrs. Atkisson will preside at the organ with Mrs. J. C. Baisden as choir director. They have a strong choir and those who attend this church may feel assured of a splendid musical program at every service.

H. E. Delegal, one of the successful farmers of Suwannee county, brought to town Monday a wagon load of 400 pounds of onions, and sold them to J. B. Evans. The onions are the finest ever seen in this market. Mr. Delegal brought a sample onion to this office which weighed 2 1/2 pounds and it was an average size. Suwannee county produces as fine onions, celery, sweet and Irish potatoes, watermelons and vegetables of all kind as any other section of Florida, and when our farmers commence planting more vegetables and less cotton they will be able to enjoy prosperity to a larger degree than they can ever hope for under the one crop-cotton system of farming.
